

Argentine Cinema Series

University of Limerick, 26, 27, 28 September at 18:00

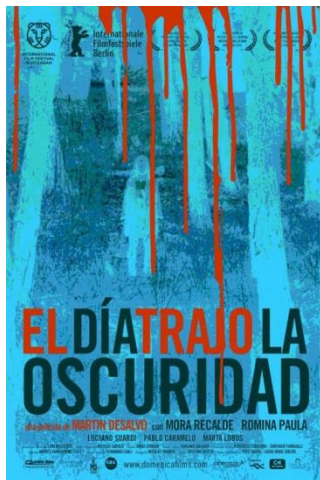

Free admission, all films with subtitles

Tuesday 26th September, Room D1050 at 18:00

Widows on Thursdays* (Marcelo Piñeyro, 2009)

Genre: Drama, crime, mystery. In a gated community, where everyone seems to have it all, secrets surrounding the wealthy residents start to come out when three corpses are discovered in a swimming pool.

Wednesday 27th September, Room S116 at 18:00

Darkness by day* (Martín Desalvo, 2013)

Genre: Horror, mystery. Thirty-something Virginia is alone in her family's isolated house. As a rabies virus plagues the surrounding area, the arrival of her cousin Anabel sets a strange set of events in motion as she spends most of the day asleep and disappears at night.

Thursday 28th September, Room KBG15 at 18:00

Stories of Cronopios and Famas* (Julio Ludueña, 2014)

Genre: animation. Based on the short stories of Julio Cortázar, this film is about the tensions between social classes and genders, between the local and the global, the popular and the elitist, and all that is allegorised by these imaginary beings, Cronopios and Famas.